

DLA PIPER GLOBAL TECHNOLOGY SUMMIT

Wei Chen

Vice President and Associate General Counsel
Salesforce

Wei Chen is a Vice President and Associate General Counsel at Salesforce, leading the legal functions for mergers and acquisitions, strategic investment, real estate and data center. During her nine-year tenure, Salesforce has become one of the most active acquirers and strategic investors in the technology space, the largest corporate tenant in San Francisco and a prominent leader in cloud computing. Wei received The Recorder's In-House Impact Award in 2015 and her team received The Recorder's Deals and Acquisitions Award in 2014.

Wei started her legal career at Skadden Arps and then at Cooley. Before joining Salesforce, she served as the Assistant General Counsel at Sun Microsystems, where she was responsible for all of its M&A activities. Wei is a sub-4-hour marathoner and an active volunteer in her community and local schools. When she is not busy doing deals, Wei loves coaching young students on their public speaking skills.
