Brandee Diamond

Partner
DLA Piper

Brandee Diamond focuses on domestic and international M&A transactions and represents strategic and private equity buyers, public and private company sellers, and stockholders on both friendly and hostile transactions.

She advises clients in all aspects of the deal process, including working with corporate boards and senior management on pre-acquisition planning, transaction structuring, drafting and negotiating acquisition and related agreements, and post-acquisition integration planning.

In addition to her transactional work, Brandee counsels emerging growth companies in connection with their formation and development, addressing formation, compensation, financing and other corporate matters.
