

European Technology Summit

Martin Kissinger

Founder and CEO
Lendable

Martin Kissinger is the Founder and CEO of Lendable. Lendable offers personal loans to a broad range of borrowers by matching them up with qualified investors, using instant credit decisions and fully personalised pricing. Martin previously worked in venture development at Rocket Internet, and among other projects started the incubator's first fin-tech venture, Lendico. Prior to Rocket, he spent time at venture capital firms including Accel Partners. Martin graduated at the top of his class with a research masters degree in Economics from Oxford, and also holds a BSc from the London School of Economics.

www.dlapipertechsummit.eu

© 2019 DLA Piper. DLA Piper is a global law firm operating through various separate and distinct legal entities. Further details of these entities can be found at www.dlapiper.com. All rights reserved. Attorney advertising.