

European Technology Summit

Vladimir Lasocki

Managing Director & Co-Head of the CETP investment advisory team
Carlyle Europe Technology Partners

 vladimir-lasocki-b2956987/

Vladimir Lasocki is a Managing Director and Co-Head of the CETP investment advisory team. He is based in London.

Mr. Lasocki joined Carlyle in 2000 and his sector expertise includes telecommunications hardware and services, enterprise software, healthcare and business services.

Prior to joining Carlyle, Mr. Lasocki was an Associate with Deutsche Bank's principal investments group between 1998 and 2000 where he was a member of the investment team responsible for a number of successful technology investments including among others Cocom in Denmark (acquired by Cisco), Orchestream in the U.K. (LSE:OCH), and Xacct Technologies in Israel (acquired by Amdocs). Mr. Lasocki started his career in corporate finance for Banque Paribas in London and Prague.

Since joining Carlyle, Mr. Lasocki has advised on 14 major investments and nine completed realisations, including Egencia (acquired by Expedia), Orthogon Systems (acquired by Motorola), Cameca (acquired by Ametek), Transics (NYSE:TRAN), Metrologic (acquired by Astorg), Marle (acquired by IK), Expereo (acquired by Apax), Companeo (acquired by Infopro). Mr. Lasocki is currently a member of the Board of Directors of LPG Systems, HGH Infrared Systems, Prima Solutions, Marle and Evernex.

www.dlapipertechsummit.eu

© 2019 DLA Piper. DLA Piper is a global law firm operating through various separate and distinct legal entities. Further details of these entities can be found at www.dlapiper.com. All rights reserved. Attorney advertising.