

Middle East Technology Summit

Magdalena Konig

General Counsel
AIQ

“Regulating AI through thorough legal frameworks, policies and resolutions boosts sustainable technology and development of the AI industry. In an ever-evolving field, legislation ensuring a high-level of cybersecurity and reduced vulnerabilities in digital products ensures the success of our data-driven products in the regional and international energy market.”

Magdalena Konig is a key member of AIQ’s executive leadership team. As the General Counsel at AIQ, she is responsible for the oversight of the Legal, Governance and Compliance department including business structure and operations. She is part of the team that brought AIQ into fruition, drawing on her vast international experience as an advisor to public and private organizations.

Magdalena specializes in the legal framework of IT integration and implementation, strategic IT and business process outsourcing, cloud services, data management, licensing and support agreements. She holds a postgraduate degree in law, and was accepted as a member of the Law Society of England and Wales in September 2021 upon completion of her training at Shoosmiths LLP, where she was a member of the Commercial, Technology and Outsourcing Team specializing in ICT and outsourcing projects.
