

Middle East Technology Summit

John Magee

Partner, Global Co-Chair Data, Privacy and Cybersecurity Group

DLA Piper

John is a highly experienced data protection lawyer, leading the firm's data protection, privacy and cybersecurity practice in Ireland.

One of Ireland's best known and respected privacy lawyers, John has a varied client base of both Irish and international organisations and he is recognised by clients for his strategic advice on global data governance and compliance, data transfers, information security and breach response matters.

John also advises on contentious data protection and privacy matters, including information access requests and regulatory investigations.

www.dlapipertechsummit.com/middleeast

© 2025 DLA Piper. DLA Piper is a global law firm operating through various separate and distinct legal entities. Further details of these entities can be found at www.dlapiper.com. All rights reserved. Attorney advertising.